Annual Festival At Redeemer Lutheran

Pastor Lynn Jones of Tabor Lutheran Church, Taber, Alberta, spoke at the annual festival of the Redeemer Lutheran Church, Didsbury on Sunday, Sept. 25 as the congregation observed its annual mission festival. Following a joint lunch, Pastor Jones spoke on his experience as Lutheran missionary on the Alaska Highway during the last war. Following his lecture, he showed films taken by himself of this work. The lecture helped to emphasize the difficulties and problems that missionaries must face as they bring the Gospel of Jesus Christ to all the world. Capacity audiences attended both services. The offering for World Wide Mission Work amounted to over $450.

On Sunday, Oct. 2 Redeemer Congregation will observe Holy Communion. The Walther Leaguers of the Alberta-Saskatchewan district have again chosen Didsbury as the site for their officers' conference. This will also be held on Oct. 2.

Guest speaker for the morning service will be the Rev. W. Wangerin, President of Concordia College, Edmonton. Business sessions for the League officers will be conducted in the church in the afternoon and evening.

Pastor W. A. Rumsch Edmononton, the Pastoral Advisor to the League in this district, will conduct a brief closing service at 7:30 p.m. The morning service will begin at 10:30 a.m.

On Sunday evening, Oct. 9, the quarterly voters' meeting of the congregation will be held. This meeting will start at 8:00 p.m.

Redeemer congregation will be host to the representatives and officers of the Lutheran congregations of the Calgary circuit on Sunday, Oct. 16 as these assemble to plan and discuss the work of the church for the next year.

Pastor E. B. Fox, recently appointed as Visitor of this Circuit, will act as chairman of the meeting.

DO WE SKATE OR DON'T WE?

From what can be gathered from the board of management of the local memorial arena the question of "to store or not to store" is still up in the air. We refer to the suggestion, mentioned in our last issue, that the skating rink be used for grain storage.

At a meeting with representatives of a large grain company held here last week no guarantee was forthcoming, as to the quantity of grain which would be stored or the length of time said grain would be stored.

It has now been estimated that the arena will hold approximately 150,000 bushels, some repairs will have to be made and the company in question is offering what would amount to less than 1/2 cent per bushel per year.

Those in charge of the arena feel that the final decision should be left in the hands of the two organizations which were mainly responsible for the arena being constructed. We speak of the Lions Club and the Legion.

We are in the dark as to just when a meeting will take place but we promise to keep you posted.

Mons Chapter Sponsors Campaign For The Blind

The annual campaign for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind will be held in Didsbury from Sept. 26 to 30 inclusive. Tag day will be Saturday, Oct. 1. Members of the I.O.D.E. will call at your home next week and will appreciate any support you can give to this worthy cause.

"Reading maketh a full man," said Francis Bacon many years ago, but his words have living meaning to-day for thousands of handicapped Canadians. Blindness is their handicap, yet they read by sound and touch, borrowing books from a large free circulating library, in which everyone may have an interest.

The lending library facilities of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind are available at no charge to any blind person in Alberta who wants to read. He may wish to learn the touch system of embossed printing, or he may prefer to listen to trained voices reading his favorite books by means of records. Most libraries supply books and let it go at that. The CNIB, besides operating the coast-to-coast library service, teaches blind persons the knack of reading Braille and Moon-type, the two embossed reading systems. Record-players for playing recorded books are supplied without cost to any library subscriber who cannot afford one. This equipped any blind person may read his Bible

Home and School Health Program

The School Broadcasts Branches of the four western provinces and the Public Health Departments have co-operated to present a series of radio programs on health.

They will be heard in Alberta over station C.B.X. each Tuesday for five weeks beginning Oct. 4 at 2 p.m.

The purpose of "Health Highways" is to help parents carry on in the home, the good habits that are taught in the school.

These broadcasts will consist of a 20 minute play directed to the school children. Then for 10 minutes each week a different group of parents and health authorities will discuss the information in the play, and decide how it can be utilized in the home.

Parents are urged to listen in and by making brief notes be prepared to discuss the various topics at the local meetings, thus enabling the health committee to send reports to the Provincial Health chairman.

It is expected that as a result of these discussions and studies, being held all over Alberta, some practical suggestions, will be offered for the improvement of health in the homes, in the community and in the province.

1. Facts, Facts and Fancies, Oct. 4.
2. Through Extra Eyes and Ears, Oct. 11.
3. Defence Against Disease Oct. 18.
4. The Milky Way, Oct. 25.
5. Sneezes and Sniffles, Nov. 1.

each day or relax before bedtime with the latest fiction. Magazines for reading by touch or sound, keep blind readers informed of current events. Library headquarters of the CNIB is in Toronto, through which over 4000 pounds of reading for the sightless pass each day. Heavy boxes of records and bulky Braille books are sent to blind readers in the ten provinces. The Post Offices allow the material free transit, thus making the reading available to all regardless of income. Almost 100 blind Albertans from the Peace River to the Cypress Hills are at present making use of the library. Important contributions to education are made every year by the Library's School Recording Department. Here, school text-books are recorded for use by visually handicapped children at elementary regular classes. No charge is made for this service. The CNIB Library is supported by public subscription and through a yearly fundraising campaign. Albertans can support this important service to the blind by contributing to their Community Chests or to the independent drives between may centres next week. Contributions may also be sent to the CNIB at 406-16th Ave. N.W., Calgary, Alberta, and are deductible from income-tax returns.

An Editorial . . .

We Repeat . . . "Operation Lifesaver"

The weatherman, the officials in charge and everyone else connected with "Operation Lifesaver" had us crossed up last week when a last-minute meeting called the show off for one week.

We thoroughly agreed with the decision of the "high brass." Under prevailing conditions there could quite possibly have been a situation created which could have caused unnecessary injuries, unnecessary discomfort to mothers and their children — unnecessary loss of life.

However, that "H" Bomb is still heading our way and (weather permitting) the same procedure will be followed on September 28th, as that which had been planned for September 21st.

Once more we will wait for the sirens to sound!

One man was killed and another seriously injured in a highway accident just south of Didsbury on the main No. 2 highway at about 10 a.m. Tuesday morning.

RAILWAYMEN SEEK WAGE BOOST

Canadian railwaymen are going after an 18 per cent boost in wages, a non-contributory health plan and certain other benefits. This was recently announced by Frank Hall speaking for 145,000 employees in 15 non-operating unions. They are asking that these demands be made effective next January 1. Mr. Hall estimated the cost of the increase at $70 million a year but did not place a figure on the cost of the health scheme and other benefits.

Canadian farmers have an interest in this matter for any boost in wages is almost certain to be reflected in increased railway charges.

In these days of loyalty-security checks in Washington, the remark of a certain well-known capital lady may be a sign of our times.

She strenuously disapproves of the present political climate, but refuses at social gatherings, to be drawn into partisan discussions. Her friends chided her for her silence, but she explained: "This is a free country. It can be afraid to talk if I want to."

WEDDINGS

ADAMS - KING

A wedding of wide interest was Saturday Sept. 17 at 4:00 p.m. in the Fallen Timber Four-square Church, when Miss Marlene Sylvia Adams daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Adams of Bergen was united in marriage to Mr. Bert Leroy King, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. King of Water Valley. Rev. Ruby and Rev. Cecil Moore performed the double ring ceremony.

The wedding was the first performed in the new church which was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion from Mrs. J. McGiffin's garden.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and was charming in a nylon net and nylon and rayon lace over shimmering satin floor length gown, with a matching bolero jacket with a mandarin collar and long jolly point sleeves of lace, with a fingertip veil of illusion net and carried a bouquet of red roses. Her only ornament was a three strand of pearls.

Miss Joanne Adams sister of the bride was the brides only attendant and looked lovely in a pink floor length dress of net and taffeta, with shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Brian King, brother of the groom, was best man, and the guests were ushered by Mr. H. King and Mr. F. Adams.

After the ceremony a reception for the bridal party and immediate relatives was held at the home of the bride's parents.

BOXCAR ALLOCATION

The Canadian Wheat Board has announced a change in the method by which boxcars are to be allocated to country elevators. For some time the railways have followed a general plan of distributing boxcars equally among elevators, that is, one car, one elevator. Now the railways have been instructed to distribute boxcars among the elevators in proportion to the number of unfilled shipping orders each elevator holds.

For example, if there is three elevators at a point, one having 15 shipping orders, another 10 and a third 5, cars will now be divided on a 3-2-1 basis. This arrangement is much to be preferred to the one which prevailed in the past. However, it is still not the answer to boxcar allocation. Shipping orders are divided among elevators by the Canadian Wheat Board under a formula which they have worked out and which is known only to themselves. Apparently some consideration is given to the wishes of producers with the most popular elevators getting the most cars. But the Wheat Pool maintains that only farmers can decide where they wish to deliver their grain. Only when grain producers have an opportunity to express their preference will boxcars be allocated on a proper basis. Only then will they be assured of the opportunity to patronize the elevators of their own choice.

Liquor Laws Not Popular

There has never been a very satisfactory solution found to handle the debatable liquor traffic. One thing is certain, Alberta must soon overhaul its unpopular regulations to meet the will of the people and combat many abuses that have arisen as a result of a set of rules that cannot be enforced. Visitors to Alberta, especially from the States, are often exasperated over the senseless controls surrounding our liquor traffic. We don't think it is possible to write a statute that will completely solve the difficulty. The consumption of liquor is dangerous when not controlled, yet there are thousands of people who enjoy drinking to a moderate degree and resent official interference with their rights especially when they accede to the terrific self imposed taxation which tolls the liquor traffic as a happy and easy source of revenue. Be this as it may, there are many times when moderate drinkers want to be served without having to submit themselves to the beer parlors where the drinking of beer is the only pastime exercised. They would like beer or wine with their meals, or they would like the higher class surroundings of the cocktail bar where ladies can feel welcome, even if charges are in the luxury class. British Columbia has already taken steps to broaden its attitude towards drinking privileges. These new outlets are subject to local option. The Bracken Commission in Manitoba brought in a report that advocated loosening the controls, and the Manitoba Premier has indicated that the recommendations will be implemented at an early date. The Alberta Government is taking steps to have liquor stores open all night in an effort to combat the growing bootleg menace. Nothing short of prohibition will satisfy the ultra drys, but we would hardly like to see the doors opened too wide here so that beer and wine would be sold along with groceries. There is big money and easy money in the liquor business and as long as this condition prevails there will be pressure to open the gates. One could take a lesson from Britain where the law of diminishing returns has caused the government to take survey the situation to find out if high excise taxes are not killing off the goose that lays the golden eggs for the national treasury.

The hatbox in her hand drew a long dark look from her husband. "Darling," she hurriedly explained, "I was down in the dumps today so I bought myself a new hat."

"Oh," he growled, "so that's where you get them."

Coal Black...

Aluminum Blonde?

Don't be surprised if one of these days you see a coal truck go by loaded with shining stuff that certainly doesn't look like coal. One big coal company now sprays its anthracite with aluminum paint. Not only makes it cleaner to handle; it burns better, too.

We note, too, that aluminum is involved in another fuel operation—this time in capturing heat from the sun. An aircraft company operates a solar furnace that focuses the sun's rays by means of a 120-inch aluminum reflector to create temperatures up to 8,500 F. It is used to test materials under extreme heat.

CANCER SOCIETY SPONSORS SCHOOL CONTEST

The Alberta Division of the Canadian Cancer Society has announced that it will again sponsor a Cancer Scrapbook Contest in Alberta schools.

As in the past, cash prizes totalling nearly $1,000 have been donated by a group of life members of the society who annually give funds for this purpose.

The competition will require the students to depict in scrapbook form the "Causes, Problems and Cancer Control," using cuttings from newspapers, magazines and other printed material.

The prize list in each of the society's branch areas consists of 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th prizes of $10, $5, $3, $2 respectively in Grades V and VI, Grades VII and VIII, Grades IX and X and Grades XI and XII. Following the branch awards, grand prizes will be awarded for the best entries in the same classes in the entire province. The closing dates for entries is 15th March, 1956.

Posters giving details of the competition have been supplied to all schools in the province. Teachers or pupils who do not receive posters and other information relative to the contest may secure them from the Calgary office of the society at 231-7th Avenue S.E., Calgary, Alberta.

Notes From D.A.

By HOWARD J. FULCHER

Good ventilation is a very important factor in the good health and well being of livestock. During winter months barns often become quite damp and in some cases wet resulting in sickness and general unthriftiness of the animals being housed.

All ventilation should be checked and any repairs necessary carried out before cold weather sets in, fires should be checked and cleaned if necessary. In the natural draft systems be sure there is ample of outlet area so that moist air can be drawn off. Where ventilation has been a problem and power is available the fan type systems prove very satisfactory. These may be quite expensive with thermodynamic controls and dual systems. A very practical system for average cattle and hog barns is to have a 16-inch fan located at ceiling level on the south or east wall enclosed in a duct 18 inches wide and 12 inches deep, this depth of duct reduced to about 4 inches at floor level. Manually controlled slides can be constructed in the duct but should be well fitted so they can be completely closed if necessary.

This gives positive air taken out of the barn, fresh air can be allowed to enter through small ducts at ceiling level or from the loft.

My wife, a good driver, is a little slow to get away from a traffic light and her pet peeve is the fellow behind who blows his horn. At first, when a horn blew she "evened the score" by killing the engine, then starting up again just in time to be the only car to get through on that light. But now she has a better system. When a man blows his horn at her, she turns, smiles broadly (she's a nice-looking blonde, with all the trimmings), waves gaily and blows him a kiss.

She did this recently to a horn-blower whose wife happened to be with him. That evening the couple came around to see us. The wife, it seems, had just happened to write down our license number, and the husband was having a little trouble explaining to her why a good-looking blonde was throwing kisses at him.

WON'T SELL

A drunk stumbled into a bar and suggested the bartender he could tell the ingredients in any mixed drink. The bartender stooped behind the bar and tossed into a large glass the remains of an unfinished Martini, added some Scotch and soda, brandy, rum and cola. The character sipped the drink and correctly named the ingredients, one by one.

"Just a lucky guess," said the bartender. Let's try it again."

This time he gave the drunk just plain water.

The drunk wet his lips with the water, started at it in complete mystification, tasted it again, and then pushed it away.

RADIO EVIL

Rev. Amos R. Wells in a book written thirty or more years ago, gives an account of a court case, in France, against an X-Ray clinic. People living near the clinic had heard that X-Rays caused cancer. At the court they said that X-Rays, separated at the clinic, passed through the patients' bodies, through the walls of the clinic, through the open spaces, through the walls of their houses and were injuriously affecting their health. The doctors and scientists, showed that this just was not so. The case was dismissed. We are certain today that no such charge can be laid at the door of the useful X-Ray. There is no question in our minds, however, about this, namely, that the X-Ray, used wrongly, or carelessly, or too much, does harm. Nor is there any doubt in our minds about the harm done by the radiation of human weakness, contagious diseases, immoral and impure habits, and bad personal influence. "No man liveth unto himself."

On a language examination, some years ago this little story appeared in Latin, to be translated into English.

One evening a father said to his son, "Bring us a basket of apples." The son obeyed. The father then said, "Get a rotten apple, put it in the center of the basket and put the basket in the cellar." Again the son did as he was told. Later in the winter, when the evenings were long, the father said to the son, "Bring those apples." The son went for the apples but at that time they were all rotten. They had all decayed. The one bad one had made all bad.

Yeast in the Bible is nearly always used as the symbol of decay. It often symbolizes something akin to death.

Bread made without yeast is symbol of wholesomeness, cleanliness and purity. Jesus said, "Beware of the yeast of the Pharisees," and Paul wrote a small decay will cause the entire lump to decay. Then he added put out that cause of decay that you may become a new lump, free from the distress decay brings.

Jesus used this word, yeast, in another way when He said "The Kingdom of heaven is the yeast, which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal until all was made ferment."

The "all" in this case was altered by the saving power of Grace. There are still influences that are not only unpleasant but that add to the world's misery and hasten its decay, radiating from person to person, in our midst and throughout all human society. There are also influences that are good radiating around the world, influences that are catching and are spreading the best we know, Love, joy, peace and salvation.

A bad way of living and doing things cannot have a good influence, neither can a good way of living and doing things leave a bad influence or leave a bad taste as we so often say.

Our echoes roll from soul to soul, and live forever and forever" be those echoes bad or good.

WEDDINGS

McCLELLAND - PARSONS

A quiet wedding ceremony was solemnized in First United Church, Dawson Creek, when Miss Norma Maxine Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons of Grande Prairie, became the bride of Mr. John Harold McClelland, only son of Mr. and Mrs. James McClelland of Vermilion, Alberta. Rev. E. Sinclair Heikle officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with fern, gladioli and dahlias.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a strapless, white length gown of chantilly lace and tulle, not over satin, topped by a Peter Pan collar trimmed with sequins. Her chapel veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and opal sequins. She carried a Bible mounted with a single pink orchet and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, gift of the groom.

Miss Georgina Parsons, who was her sister's maid of honor, wore a pink tulle length gown of nylon net over tulle and carried a colonial bouquet of tulle roses and yellow sweetpeas.

Miss Sandra Parsons, younger sister of the bride as flower girl, wore mint green diction over tulle and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and mauve sweet peas.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the banquet room of the Windsor Hotel. Receiving with the bride party were Mrs. Geo. Parsons, mother of the bride who chose a navy blue afternoon frock with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations and stephanotis. Mrs. J. McClelland chose for herself a navy blue afternoon jacket dress of navy triple sheer with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and stephanotis.

Following a honeymoon to Vancouver, Victoria and the western States, Mr. and Mrs. McClelland will reside in Dawson Creek.

The fleet was holding maneuvers. On a destroyer the call to general quarters was given. The whole crew hastened to their stations, while already reports of simulated damage were being received by damage control.

On deck an officer in hand, surveyed the busy men, then stooped and traced out a rough circle several feet in diameter, extending from rail to superstructure, and scrawled in the middle of the area, "Bomb hit. Destroyed." Then he stood by to watch.

A belated seaman, running to his post, reached the artificial wound and stooped. He gazed wistfully at the far side of the circle, then his face lighted. Plucking the crayon from the hand of the astounded officer, he quickly drew two straight lines through the center of the circle, scribbled in the middle, "six-inch plank" — and hastened on his way.

Money across the miles

A chartered bank makes it a simple matter for you to send money almost anywhere, inside or outside Canada.

You may want to get money to a certain city as a gift on somebody's birthday; or to settle a business account; or to set up a fund which can be drawn upon by a company salesman, branch office or supplier.

It works the other way, too. If you are far from home and short of cash, you can advise your "home" branch to telegraph your money to a point where you can pick it up. Many situations and needs can arise — and a chartered bank has many ways of taking care of them, including the sale of travellers cheques.

This service is one of the many advantages you enjoy as a customer of a chartered bank. Your local branch is an all-round banking service-centre that can be helpful to you in many ways.

Only a chartered bank offers a full range of banking services, including:

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

COMMERCIAL LOANS

GARDEN SLUGS: In response to a number of enquiries I am writing this letter about the garden pest which proves a troublesome enemy in many cases. These slugs have become a serious pest of gardens in many parts of Alberta. They are readily distributed with bedding-out plants and are liable to turn up anywhere.

The life history is very simple. Slugs are soft bodied, slimy creatures, legless and no obvious heads. They glide from place to place leaving behind a trail of slime. Normally they hide by day under any kind of rubbish. At night, they climb plants and feed by scraping the surface from tender vegetation with a raspy structure which they extrude from their mouths. They also attack potatoes and make holes in them. Practically everything green in a garden serves their purpose. From time to time eggs are laid in protected places. From these, young slugs hatch and, without change in structure, grow to their full size of about one inch when extended. A resting slug is much shortened and swollen and may be little longer than wide.

Control:

1. General sanitation. Clean up all boards, boxes, etc., under which slugs can hide by day.
2. Metaldelyde. This material, obtainable from drug stores and seed houses, is usually considered to be the best for slug control. Methods for use are given on the containers in which they are purchased.

3. Anhydrous copper sulphate is much cheaper than metaldelyde and usually is about as effective. One part of this mixed with ten parts of hydrated lime. Scatter this on the ground among infested plants shortly after sundown. It remains effective for as long as it is dry.

4. Ordinary lime, placed in a belt on the soil surface about an inch in width, kills most of the slugs which attempt to cross it for as long as it remains dry.

The emptied halves of grapefruits, placed cut-side downwards among infested plants, will trap many slugs. Examine these occasionally and destroy any slugs in them by pouring on boiling water.

I don't anticipate that you will experience much more trouble from these pests this fall, but you will be well advised to file away this information so that you can refer to it next summer when the garden slugs make their appearance in your gardens.

Joe E. Lewis' lament about a horse he bet on: "I won't say he was slow—but this is the first time a jockey took along copies of Reader's Digest and Cosmopolitan."

Our six-year-old daughter went off to school, looking very grown-up in a new blouse and skirt. When she came home, I asked if anyone liked her outfit. "Yes, the teacher did," said Jackie.

"Oh, she did not!" teased her father.
"She did, too," retorted Jackie. "She said as long as I was dressed like a lady, why didn't I act like one?"

Asked what he'd learned at Sunday school, the ten-year-old began, "Well, our teacher told us about when God sent Moses behind enemy lines to rescue the Israelites from the Egyptians. When they came to the Red Sea, Moses called for the people to build a pontoon bridge. After they had all crossed they looked back and saw the Egyptian tanks coming. Headquarters on his walkie-talkie sent bombers to blow up the bridge and saved the Israelites."

"Bobby," exclaimed his startled mother, "is that really the way you teacher told that story?"
"Well, not exactly. But if I told it her way, you'd never believe it!"

A seventh grader, suddenly smitten by a classmate, announced on Friday afternoon that he was going to phone her and ask her to the movies that night. His older sister was horrified. "You just don't call a girl in the afternoon and ask her for a date that night," she said. "It's too insulting!" You call her at least a week ahead of time.

"A week," he groaned.
"Well," she said, relenting a little, "at least not any later than the Monday before your date."

"Monday?" he protested. "But I couldn't ask her Monday. I didn't even like her until Wednesday!"

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The perfection and supremacy of God's infinitely good creation will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday. Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and correlative selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will comprise the Lesson-Sermon on the topic "UNREALITY."

From Ecclesiastes (3:14) will be read the following verse: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it; and God doeth it, that men should fear before him." Among the correlative passages to be read from Science and Health is the following: (325:20-22) "Everything good or worthy, God made. Whatever is valueless or baneful, He did not make. — hence its unreality."

Safety Sam Says...

Failing to yield the right-of-way constitutes the greatest single cause of traffic accidents. Under the "good manner" code of the road, the car on the right has the right-of-way.

Furthermore, section 51 of the Vehicles and Highway Traffic act, states when 2 vehicles approach or enter an intersection at approximately the same time — the driver of the vehicle that is on the right shall have the right of way.

Make it a habit to approach all intersections with caution and at reduced speed, and always give the car on your right the right-of-way. Remember, in the event of an accident, failure, to yield the right-of-way can result in a charge.

In a lecture to a group of Korean officers, Lieut. Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, at that time deputy commander of the U.S. Eighth Army in Korea, took two or three minutes to tell his favorite joke. His interpreter then quickly translated the joke, using only seven or eight words. Everyone immediately burst into hearty laughter.

After the lecture General Clarke asked the interpreter how he had been able to retell such a relatively long joke so quickly.

"Well, sir," the Korean interpreter replied, "I didn't think everyone would get the point, so I said, 'The general has just told a joke. Everyone will please laugh.'"

A football coach accompanied a prospective tackle to the Dean's office, where he attempted to get the boy admitted to school without a written examination. The boy, however, could not answer the simplest questions. In desperation, the Dean asked, "How much is seven and seven?"

"Thirteen," the boy answered.

"Aw, let him in anyway, Dean," pleaded the coach. "he only missed it by two."

Jimmy's mother, a believer in the be a little - a little - gentleman - and - don't - fight school of upbringing, was trying to instill this noble outlook into her pugnacious young son. "Jimmy, when that naughty boy three stones at you, why didn't you come and tell me instead of throwing them back at him?"

"What good would that do?" snorted Jimmy. "You can't hit the side of a barn."

In 1946, at Clarke field, Philippine Islands, a new dependent housing area was being completed. All husbands were allowed to send a radio message to their wives who were en route aboard a transport. A captain appeared at the message-center window and asked, "How many words am I allowed?"

"Fifteen words is the maximum, sir," I replied.

He wrote for a while, then handed me this message: "DEAR SUE HURRY HURRY HURRY HURRY HURRY HURRY HURRY HURRY HURRY LOVE JACK"

I was standing at the counter in the advertising department of a newspaper, when an angry-looking man rushed in and told the clerk he wanted to place a classified ad. "A waitress in my restaurant just quit to get married," he growled, and then proceeded with the rest of the information.

"I want a girl who is dependable and neat. She must have no bad habits like drinking or smoking. I don't want her to be too sociable or too attractive and she must be able to remember order. Oh, yes, I want someone who doesn't have any boy friends."

Without hesitation, the clerk replied: "You needn't worry, sir - the woman who answers this ad won't have."

That we fathers spend too little time with our families was brought home to me the other night in an unexpected and forceful fashion.

I had dashed home from the bank for dinner, announcing that I had to go back right afterward for an evening session of work. As my wife placed a delectable-looking dish on the table, one of our three sons started to help himself first. But he didn't get far, for the youngest stopped him - and us - with the remark, "Serve Daddy first - he's our guest."

A snail boy went to a Sunday school picnic, but it hardly lived up to his expectations. He was stung by a bee; he fell into a creek; a little girl pulled his hair; he got badly sunburned. Late in the afternoon he reached home in an extremely disheveled state. As he limped up the front steps, his mother greeted him and said:

"Well, son, what sort of a time did you have at the picnic?"

"Mama," slowly replied the little lad, "I'm so glad I'm back I'm glad I went."

TRACTOR OPERATING COSTS

Operating costs of farm tractors from the big 4-5 plow down to the garden type vary according to the care and maintenance given and to the steady use of the tractor, state reports of tests conducted by the Canadian experimental farm at Lethbridge, B.C. The variable costs such as repairs, fuel consumption and efficiency can be kept at a minimum by proper use and careful maintenance according to manufacturers' instructions. A few minutes attention each day will avoid costly repair bills. Fixed expenses such as depreciation, insurance and housing can only be kept down by full use of the machines.

[From Our Own Correspondent]

Your correspondent is back on duty again after a very enjoyable vacation in Shiocton, Wis. Vacation time is always of great interest when one can travel a little, but it is also good to be back to work again. We are now looking forward to the students' return to class work, and that will soon be upon us. College registration will come on Oct. 11, and we are expecting a good enrolment.

Mrs. Lydia Suder returned to the campus Thursday. She has had a wonderful tour through the Holy Land, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, other European countries including England and Scotland. Next Sunday evening she will be speaking in the United Missionary Church and showing a few of the pictures she took while on tour. She reports a good time with the exception of lack of time and hurry through interesting places where she would have liked to stay longer. You will want to hear her message.

Mrs. M. A. Finlay of Edmonton was a visitor for several days with her daughter, Mrs. D. M. Taylor and family. She celebrated her birthday while here. The Taylors had Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hunsperger and family for dinner Sunday in honor of Mrs. Finlay.

Miss Eby entertained Miss Grace Hunsperger for dinner on Sunday.

The library in the College has been redecorated and has taken on a very good look. At present the men are painting the classrooms. These have not been done since they were erected, and something needed to be done with them this year. A donation for paint was received which made this possible. We appreciate having the rooms done in bright, restful colors and we know the students will appreciate it greatly.

The Faculty was busy helping arrange for the Rally Day in the United Missionary Church last Sunday. Mrs. Taylor's class of High School young people visited a large section of the town under her direction and met at her home Monday evening. Some helped Mr. Taylor prepare the advertisement features later in the week. Miss Eby's class of young people visited the town west of the tracks on Friday evening and met at the home of Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Traub. Lynn Hunsperger's class undertook the visiting in the south end of the town and met at the home of Mrs. L. Eby. We greatly appreciate the gracious manner in which nearly all of the Didsbury people received these young people. They came back with glowing reports of courtesy, friendliness and kindness shown them. Thank you, residents of Didsbury.

The College was well prepared to register the people who were coming from Calgary last week, but none came. We trust that if they come this week the weather will be better and that we will be able to care for this work adequately. The Faculty will be assisting in the registration. Some vegetables have already come in. A beef has been donated, and some eggs have been received. We do appreciate much, for each year they help to meet the needs of the College and thus help to keep down overhead expenses. Any donations are gladly received whether they be little or much. This week the ladies and men of the church will meet at the College to help clean it in preparation for the opening of school. It is always a great day, and so much is accomplished when willing helpers come.

WEDDINGS

GRIMES - ROBERTSON

An early September wedding was solemnized recently at South Calgary United Church when Miss Evelyn Constance Grimes, Reg. N., PHN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Grimes of Calgary, became the bride of Mr. Donald John Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robertson of Carstairs.

Rev. Reid Vipond of the Metropolitan United Church in Edmonton officiated, assisted by Rev. Russell Bearisto of Calgary. The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose a floor-length gown Chantilly lace and net over white bridal satin, featuring a lace jacket. Her French illusion net veil misted from a Chantilly lace Juliet cap and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white anemones.

Miss Margaret Robertson of Didsbury, cousin of the bride-groom, was maid of honor and other attendants were Miss Joyce MacKay of Red Deer and Mrs. C. N. Hodge of Wainwright. They were dressed alike in floor-length gowns of Amazon blue net over taffeta with matching net jackets. They were matching pleated net hats and carried Ko-Ko-Mo carnations.

Miss Maxine Ford of Didsbury and Miss Sheila Mills of Calgary were flower girls in short pink net dresses over pink taffeta and carried baskets of pink daisies.

Mr. Gordon Robertson, of Carstairs, brother of the bride-groom, was best man and ushers were Mr. Don Oulrie of Didsbury and Mr. Neville Bradley of Calgary. Mrs. Gordon Ford of Didsbury played the wedding music and Mr. A. M. Robertson, father of the groom, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Wedding Prayer."

A reception was held in the church auditorium where the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. J. W. McKinnon.

Following a honeymoon trip to Banff and other points west, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson will take up residence in Edmonton, later moving to their farm west of Carstairs.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Alberta and for the past year has been with the Calgary health department. She is also president of the United Church Alberta Conference of Young People. The bridegroom is in his fourth year in agriculture at the University of Alberta, where he is president of the university mixed chorus and a member of the Golden Key Society. Mrs. Robertson will be on the staff of the Edmonton public health department this year.

While stationed at Fitzsimons Hospital in Denver, Colo., we received many new, young female second lieutenants. Most of these girls were nurses or occupational therapists coming directly from the university campus without having had any military training whatsoever. One new lieutenant spent her first evening at the officers' club where she was wine and dined by a young major who later escorted her home. The next day she walked directly past the major without saluting him. He stopped her and inquired why she had neglected to salute. "Salute?" she promptly replied. "We're not even speaking!"

No female should try to do two things at once, especially one who puts on weight and slacks at the same time.

One of the school buses which travel to our local centre of learning ran into a little difficulty while transporting children "to and from" Monday.

Seems like no one was seriously injured in the mishap but we imagine some of the little fellows will be nursing bruises for a few days as a result of the bus leaving the road.
